Mr. Theodore Coleman

With pride and pleasure Decatur High School honors Theodore Coleman, the first boy graduate of Decatur High School. In 1868 he received his diploma as a member of the second class to be graduated from this school. He was the first male graduate because the class of 1867 was made up entirely of girls.

Mr. Coleman is now eighty-three years of age. With him in his class were four girls: Clara Allison, now Mrs. C. M. Inboden; Fannie Johns, later Mrs. Sedgwick; Ruth Crissey, now Mrs. Cornell of Streator; and Jennie Newell, who became Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Sedgwick and Mrs. Wilson are dead.

Mr. Coleman's parents came to Decatur in 1855, and his father, John W. Coleman, established the first high school in the city. This was a private school, or academy, as that was the term applied to such a school in those days. This should not be confused with the original Decatur High, established a few years later by the late E. A. Gastman.

Mr. Coleman gives an interesting account of his high school days. He explains that the school room was in the basement of the Baptist Church, which at that time was located on the northeast corner of Water and William Streets. There were only three grade schools, known as ward schools; namely, the Sangamon, the Wood, and the "Big Brick."

The curriculum was planned by the principal, and the students had no choice but to follow it to the letter. The first year's work consisted of arithmetic, algebra, grammar, and spelling. Various forms of these, together with geography and the rudiments of history, consumed the next two years. In the last year there was composition, geometry, trigonometry, bookkeeping, and Latin or German.

"Our Commencement day," says Mr. Coleman, "was on June 2, 1868. The exercises were held in the evening in the old Powers Hall on the third floor above Greider's restaurant. I delivered an oration entitled, 'Illinois: Its Past, Present and Future.' Fannie Johns read a horoscope of the class; Clara Allison read an essay entitled, 'What Next,' which caused some merriment since she was married shortly after commencement."

Mr. Coleman was one of the founders of the D. H. S. Alumni Association and of the Y. M. C. A. in Decatur. He is the oldest member of the Masonic Lodge in Decatur and at present is living in the Masonic Home at Sullivan.

Miss Mary English

Miss Mary English was graduated from the Decatur High School in 1884. From 1901 until her resignation in 1932 she taught Latin in the high school, and served as head of the language department. For many years she was senior class adviser. So closely is the history and development of the high school identified with her that the senior class of 1935 wishes to express its appreciation of her service to the school.

Miss Olive Bear

For thirty years Miss Olive Bear was a teacher in the Decatur High School. In 1929 she was forced to resign from the faculty because of poor health. At the time of her resignation she was head of the English Department. The high school regards her as a valuable friend and desires to honor her in this issue of the Decanois, for which she was a most capable adviser.

1934 ALL-AMERICAN YEARBOOK CRITICAL SERVICE

In recognition of its merit, is awarded in the Fourteenth National Yearbook Critical Service of the National Scholastic Press Association at the University of Minnesota, Department of Journalism, this First day of November, 1934.

Washburn

The National Scholastic Press Association at the University of Minnesota reviews over six hundred high school and college annuals each year. They grade these books according to their merits, issuing a certificate of rating to each. The "All-American" award is the highest honor to be given. This is awarded to a small number of annuals yearly but, as yet, has never been given to the Decanois. The second highest rating, that of Superior, was won by the 1934 Decanois.

Each year the rating of the previous Decanois is of particular value to the new Decanois staff.

DECATUR HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

Decatur High School faculty is selected according to the North Central Association rulings. Bachelor degrees equal to four years of college training are required. There are sixteen of Decatur High School faculty who have master's degrees. This fact tends to raise the standard of qualification for teachers. In a few years, a master's degree will probably be a requirement here as it is in many schools at present. Fifteen semester hours of theory of teaching is required, and the applicant must have majored in the subjects he is to teach. Thirty semester hours is needed to obtain a master's degree in education.

There are 1,856 students enrolled in Decatur High School. The present faculty numbers sixty, excluding the principal and the deans. The average number of students for each teacher every day is one hundred and fifty. The English department is the largest, having twelve teachers. The social science, science, and business departments are next in size.

AS THE SOWING, THE REAPING

As a background for all group pictures, the Decanois uses the Sylvester mural in the high school library. The critics at the Illinois High School Press Association praised the group pictures because of their uniform and beautiful background.

This mural, "As the Sowing, the Reaping", painted by Frederick Coates Sylvester, covers the south wall of the library. It represents the Mississippi River as Mr. Sylvester saw it from his home in Illinois. It is regarded as the most noble and poetic landscape mural-decoration ever produced in America. Mr. Sylvester was a poet-artist. He not only painted scenes of the Mississippi, but he also wrote a volume of poems, "The Great River", which expresses his love for this river. Two other valuable paintings were made of the Mississippi by Mr. Sylvester, but "As the Sowing, the Reaping" is considered by far his greatest work of art.

CLASS OF 1937 COUNCIL

For the first time in Decatur High School, the sophomores organized their class. The executive body is made up of a group of students called "The Student Council".

In their meetings they not only have business discussions, but they also have special programs. This consists of musical numbers, readings, etc. The sophomores also organized a sort of booster section to sit together at basketball games.

The class published a small paper for its members. This, too, is a new idea in our high school.

DEBATE

The Debate Club has been unusually active this year. The club has debated Macon twice, was a part of it in the Blackburn College Invitational Debates at Waverly, Illinois, and battled the Illinois State Champions at Jacksonville. Out of all the schools, Decatur High School ranked fourth, which is a fine showing considering the hard competition. Last year Decatur High School won the third place pennant in an all-state meet.

Agora is a society for girls interested in literature. Its objectives are To promote taste for good literature, to study essay writing, to become efficient in the use of parliamentary law, to improve English, and to improve general culture

The first semester of the club was devoted to preparation for the intersociety contest. Ruth Ross placed first in the dramatic event of this contest. One of the most interesting subjects of the year was the study of famous novels and authors. Three motion pictures, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", "David Copperfield", and "The Last Gentleman", were attended by the society.

In addition to the literary achievements of the society, the members assisted at the Decatur Day Nursery during the Christmas holidays. The second semester was opened by a rushing tea in the high school dining room.

Under the able direction of Miss Yoder, Agora has had a successful and colorful year

ARISTOS

Aristos is an organization which strives to increase interest in literature among the girls of Decatur High School.

During the first semester, preparations were made for the intersociety contest. Aristos was represented by Joanne McDavid, Jean Stimmel, Thelma Sims, Betty Grubbs, and Beatrice Dickman. Joanne McDavid won the interpretative reading event. In order to promote interest in good literature, "The Last Gentleman" and "David Copperfield" were attended. The main topics of discussion consisted of short stories, authors, novels, current events, and modern personalities. The interesting personalities included Katherine Cornell, Thomas Macaulay, Mother O'Brien, and Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The social function for the first semester was a party given at Christmas time. Toys were sent by the members to Toyland. At the beginning of the second semester a "Winter Wonderland" tea was held for the incoming sophomores. Miss Helen Stapp is the adviser.

Forum is the oldest of the boys' societies of Decatur High School. The club has years of fine records behind its name which the members intend to maintain and excel in the future. Last year Forum accomplished what no other literary society ever succeeded in doing by winning the Deam Cup for three consecutive years, the society gained its permanent possession. This year Forum won third place in the close-scoring inter-society contest. Two of the contests were won by Forum, oration and extemporaneous reading.

Mr. Paul LeMarr is adviser of the society.

ROTARO

Rotaro Literary Society has experienced a successful year. The club won the inter-society contest of 1934 from Agora by one-half point. So close was the competition between the two societies that Rotaro wished to share the honors with Agora. The chief aims of the society is to improve the public speaking and the literary knowledge of its members. This is accomplished by oral reports and speaking within the club. During the year several speakers addressed the society among whom were Mr. White, Mr. Sprunger, and Mr. Robinson of Millikin University.

Miss Romanus is the adviser of Rotaro

The inter-society contest of 1934 was an unusually close-scoring one. Rotaro won the contest by a margin of one-half point above Agora when the final scores were summed up. Forum literary society, although winning two of the contests, received third place, when Aristos placed fourth.

Rotaro is the first society to gain possession of the new loving cup which Mr. Sayre procured for the contest. This cup is offered under the same conditions as the Deam Cup, to be gained permanently when a society wins it in three consecutive years. Forum won the Deam Cup permanently last year.

The contests were judged alternately by Mr. and Mrs. McNabb of Millikin University.

THE PRINCIPAL'S CUP

Mr. Deam, who was principal of the Decatur High School before Mr. Sayre and who is now a teacher in the Joliet Township High School, started a tradition among the literary societies during his administration in our school. Each year an intersociety contest was to be held. Agora, Forum, Aristos, and Rotaro were to be the contestants. Humorous reading, extemporaneous speaking, dramatic reading, oration, and interpretive reading were to be the subjects of the contest. The object of the contest was to promote friendly rivalry among the literary societies. The society winning the greatest number of points in the contest each year was to have its name engraved upon a beautiful silver trophy cup. If any society won the contest three years in succession, the cup was to become the permanent possession of this society.

Last year Forum won the contest for the third consecutive time and the Deam Cup became its property. For this year's contest, Mr. Sayre presented a cup to be held under the same ruling as the Deam cup.

 Second row: Light, Allen, Rentch, Wolcott, Duerr, Hugenberger, Eichman, Smith
 First row: McDavid, Brown, Ross, Vance, McMurry, Sayre, Dickman.

Mask and Wig is the dramatic club of Decatur High School Students open to second semester juniors and all seniors. The past year has been devoted to oral reports on current Broadway productions and one-act plays directed and acted by the members. Some of the plays given were: "Joint Owners in Spain", "Masks", "Knight of the Piney Woods" and "Cupid's Trick".

Mr. Wells of the National Recreation Association spoke before the two societies on puppets and puppet making. He demonstrated with his own puppets to the delight of the club.

PIERROT

Pierrot, the drama club for sophomores and first semester juniors has given several one act plays this last year. Aptly enough two Pierrot and Pierretto plays were given. "The Maker of Dreams" by Oliphante Downe was acted by Walter Flora, Margaret Allen, and Leland Akers. Walter Flora, Elizabeth Duerr, and Walter Obermeyer had parts in "Hearts to Mend" by Harry Overstreet. Both were directed by the adviser of Pierrot, Miss Gorham.

The club together with Mask and Wig heard Mr. Wells of the National Recreational Association lecture on puppets. Many of the members attended the dramatic classes conducted by Mr. Wells.

The Girls' Glee Club is an organization similar to the Boys' Club. It meets every Tuesday with Miss Adelaide Pease as adviser. Each semester new talent is discovered at the tryouts for membership. Those who have vocal ability and are interested in singing are eligible for the tryouts.

Some of the favorite compositions the girls sing are: "Angels O'er the Fields" by Davison, "Rain" by Curran, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" by Haydn, and "Dark Eyes" by Treharne

The girls in the Double Quartette, Norma Dotson, Ada Marie Heckel, Eleanor Brown, Beatrice Dickman, and Elsie Arnold, rehearsed the songs for the All State Chorus with five boys. The Double Quartette sang for several auditoriums, the Lincoln program, the Inter-Society Contest program, and the members gave several selections on the Glee Club Concerts.

Although both clubs accomplished a remarkable piece of work separately, as a unit they achieved a well-deserved record. Three large programs were given this year: The Christmas Vesper Service, the opera, "Mlle. Modiste", and the Spring Concert.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club has progressed to a great extent this year under the direction of Miss Adelaide Pease. Although this was Miss Pease's first year at Decatur High School, with the cooperation of all the boys she presented several beautiful programs throughout the year.

The club sent five boys: Kenneth Black, Paul Swarm, Frederic Hachett, Errol Odor, and Francis Rogier to the All State Chorus in Champaign in November. It is a great honor for Decatur High School to have five boys accepted since only two hundred boys and girls are selected from seven hundred schools in the state.

The club meets only one day a week, but a great deal is accomplished in that short period. Some of the most beautiful compositions they sang were: "Water Boy" by Robinson, "Street Fair" from "Sketches of Paris" by Manning, and "The Galway Piper" by Fletcher.

The club meets jointly with the Girls' Glee Club the last three days of the week. Kenneth Black acted as student director.

The climax of the work of the combined glee clubs was the presentation of Victor Herbert's comic opera, "Mlle. Modiste", under the direction of Miss Adelaide Pease and Miss Edna Robertson. Performances were given on March 26, 28, 29 to capacity houses.

There were eighty-nine in the cast including fourteen principals and choruses of milliners, soldiers, footmen, dancers and flower and cigarette girls. Leading parts were taken by Maria Karelas as "Fifi", Kenneth Black as "Captain Etienne", Harris Beck as "Count Henri de Bouvray", Eleanor Brown as "Mme. Cecile", Errol Odor as "Gaston", Paul Swarm as "Hiram Bent", and Beatrice Dickman as "Mrs. Hiram Bent".

The setting of the first act was Mme. Cecile's Parisian Hat Shop. The pastel costumes against the gold and silver background made the scene most colorful. Special lighting effects added to the beauty of the dance numbers. The French military uniforms worn by the soldiers lent zest to the picture. The first scene of Act Two was laid in the count's dining room where the Footmen were dressed in bright red uniforms. The last scene was the Charity Bazaar in the moonlit garden of the Chateau de St. Mar. Gaily decorated booths and elaborate Japanese lanterns gave charm to the festive occasion where the guests were entertained with songs and dances.

The characterization was extremely well-handled and the musical effects were very beautiful. Some of the outstanding numbers were; "The Time and the Place and the Girl", "Kiss Me Again", "I want What I Want When I Want It", and "The Mascot of the Troop".

CHRISTMAS VESPER SERVICE

The most impressive presentation of the year by the combined glee clubs was the annual Christmas Vesper Service. The clubs were assisted by a string and woodwind ensemble, a brass choir, and a clarinet quartette from the high school orchestra. Kenneth Black and Ada Marie Heckel were soloists, and the Double Quartette gave special numbers.

Some of the outstanding numbers on the program were "In Mirth and in Gladness" by Niede; "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones", a seventeenth century German Melody, arranged by Fisher; "Beautiful Savior", a twelfth century melody, by Christiansen; "Oh, Blest Are They" by Tschaiakowsky; "Virgin's Slumber Song" by Reger; and a special arrangement of "Silent Night" by Gruber-Wetzel.

This year the program of beautiful sacred songs was brought to a close by a recessional, a fitting close for this service.

JUNIOR CHORUS

The Junior Chorus, under the direction of Miss Pease, is a new organization this year. The boys meet on Monday as a Junior Boys' Glee Club and the girls meet on Tuesday as a Junior Girls' Glee Club. The two groups meet together the rest of the week and form the Junior Chorus. The purpose of this organization is to train singers for the mixed Chorus and to take care of the overflow from try-outs for that group.

A number of persons from the Junior Chorus took part in the opera, "Mlle. Modiste" and the entire group was combined with the Senior Chorus to sing for the Easter Sunrise Service at Nelson Park on April 21. The following numbers were sung on that occasion: "Unfold Ye Portals" by Gounod, "Listen to the Lambs" by Dett, and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" by Lutkin. The climax of the year's work was the performance of the cantata, "Lore from the Saga of Eric the Red" by Paul Bliss.

REDCOATS

The band of Decatur High School under Mr. Rex Rees' supervision has completed a year full of development and activity. As in former years the Redcoats played at all basketball and football games. They gave the team encouragement during intermissions with our school songs and some popular selections.

Robert Shelton, majestically maneuvering his baton, led the band in letter formation both of our school and the rival team.

The band cooperated throughout the year with school functions. Their programs included:

G. A. A. Tumbling Team auditorium
St. Teresa's opening basketball game
Numerous auditoriums

Earl Huff again filled the position of student director when Mr. Rees was unable to attend.

The annual Band and Orchestra Concert was a fitting close for the season. "Cabins" is an American rhapsody of modernistic version by Gillette. William Vest dedicated his saxophone solo "My Regret", by Hewell, to his father. The modern torch poem "Verses" by Gillette was dedicated to the Redcoats who have died. Walter Emch, head of the Theory department in the Millikin Conservatory, acted as guest conductor of his composition "Redcoat Alumni", specially written and dedicated to all former Redcoats. The closing number was "Headlines" by Carlton, also dedicated to all Decatur newspaper and carriers. This is a modernistic rhapsody picturing an impressionistic reflection of the violent pact of modern life. The music reflects the pressroom, resounding to the rhythm of the daily human struggle grinding out "Headlines" of war, fire, life, death, and crime; "Headlines"—the rhythm of life!

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra brought a successful year to a close on May seventeenth and eighteenth with its annual formal concert. Three numbers were played. The first suite, "Prince Ador", by Cornelius Rybner consists of four lovely tunes. The story of this suite is of Prince Ador and Princess Beane who are lovers. Prince Ador rescues Princess Beane from danger by using a sceptre of a wicked fairy. As a token of love he gives Princess Beane the sceptre. When the fairy finds this out she changes the princess into an ill-looking being, but Prince Ador gets help from a good fairy, and saves Princess Beane. The numbers of the suite are, "Dance of the Demons", "Dance of the Gypsies", "Pas de Deux", and "Ballabile". The second number on the program was "Poupee Valsante" by E. Poldini. This number is a solo for the flute and is very light and graceful. The third suite, "The Mississippi Suite" by Ferdie Grofe is a very modern number. The first number in this suite "Father of the Waters" portrays the majestic river rolling toward the Gulf. The second number "Huckleberry Finn" depicts Samuel Clemens character "Huck" with its tricky, lively rhythm. The next number "Old Creole Days" portrays the old South, and the last number "Mardi Gras" is a lively number describing the annual festival at New Orleans.

Mr. Rees began a new orchestra this year. This orchestra consists of twenty-five members chosen from the large group. They practice on Monday and Wednesday evenings, after school. Only dance music is studied. This orchestra, as well as the large orchestra, played at many public gatherings.

 Back row Rader, Arnold, Dixon, Brintlinger, Staples, Westervelt, Denz, Dotson, Cope.

Although only in its second year, Tri-Y Girl Reserve Club is rapidly becoming a leading organization of the Decatur High School. To better the ideals of its members, to be of assistance to the community and to create friendship is the purpose of Tri-Y. The motto is "Find and give the best"; the slogan, "Live life squarely." The meetings are held every Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A.

Dramatics, handicraft, and folk dances were studied during the second semester. The social functions of the year included several pot-lucks, a banquet, and a rushing tea. On February 16 and 17, 1935, a state Girl Reserve conference was held at Peoria. Several members of Tri-Y attended the conference.

Miss Ecklund is the Girl Reserve adviser, and Miss Rader and Miss Cope are the high school advisers.

HI-Y

Hi-Y is an organization for the boys of Decatur High School. It is affiliated with the Decatur Y. M. C. A. and holds its meetings there on Wednesday evenings under the advisement of Mr. Nelson.

This organization strives to promote fellowship among its members and through its members to become a worthwhile force in high school life. This year the members conducted a Toyland at Christmas time, collecting and repairing worn and broken toys for needy children. Early in the spring they sponsored a ping-pong tournament open to all high school boys. On the evening of April 17th Dr. Melrose from James Millikin University spoke to the club and their faculty guests at a model meeting in the Men's Library at the Y. M. C. A.

The Girl's Athletic Association is to stimulate interest in girl's athletics and gymnastics, and to standardize and promote ideals of health and sportsmanship.

During the first semester the girls practiced tumbling and played volleyball. In the second semester they practiced tumbling and played basketball. They gave a tumbling auditorium for students and one for P. T. A. on April 23.

This association each year gives awards for certain achievements. There is a first local award, a red D. H. S., a second local award, an old English D, a first state award, a navy blue G. A. A. on a white I; and a second state award, a navy blue map of Illinois with G. A. A. on it.

Miss Vance is the adviser.

GIRL SCOUTS

The high school Girl Scout troop completed their second year with an overnight hike. The troop was organized in the fall of 1933. It is open to all high school girls but because of a national scout ruling the membership is limited to 32. This number has not yet been reached.

The organization should be of interest to both old and new Scouts. The program is sufficiently advanced to appeal to anyone interested in out of door work.

The most important functions this year have been the birthday party, the Mothers Tea, the hike for Johns Hill girls and the overnight hike.

Bottom row: Slocum, Stivers, Nemyer, D. Stivers, Ball

The purpose of the Home Economics Club is to acquaint its members more fully with home management and the leaders of home economics.

The club has been very active this year in social activities. A weiner roast was given at Fairview Park, a Valentine's tea was given in the high school dining room. Members of the faculty and special guests were entertained at a Christmas tea on December 18. The members, dressed as dolls, received their guests in the dining room. In addition several dances were sponsored by the club.

Projects for the semester included a peanut sale and the making of a scrap book. At one meeting a representative from the Purity Baking Company spoke on the making of fancy sandwiches. Another interesting event this year was a trip through the Purity Baking Company.

Miss Katherine Troutman is the adviser.

JUNIOR ART LEAGUE

Junior Art League consists of students who are interested in art. Members of the regular art classes and honor students of Decatur High School only are eligible to membership.

Mrs. Maude Meyer, the adviser, hopes to develop appreciation of art among the members. To obtain this objective art of all nations and races was studied. This year modern art was studied. Several visits to the Art Institute were made this year to hear interesting lectures on exhibits of paintings, drawings, sculptures, and craftwork.

A Hallowe'en dance, "Graveyard Shivers", was held in the gym, and proceeds from the dance went to purchase a Philco Radio for the drawing room. Elaborate decorations and a splendid floor show made this one of the outstanding dances of the year.

D. H. S. COACHES

COACH GAY KINTNER

Decatur has enjoyed another successful year in athletics under the coaching of Gay Kintner. This success is a reflection of the results Mr. Kintner has had with his teams since he began coaching. During the seven years that he has been at Decatur High School, his teams have won the Big Twelve tournament and the state championship. This year the Reds were runner up in the district championship, losing the final game by one point.

Mr. Kintner's success is due largely to his method of training. He teaches his teams the science of the game, instills in them team spirit, and he produces in them the desire to win. Not only does Mr. Kintner strive to build winning teams, but he also teaches them to play cleanly and sportsmanly.

COACH FRANCIS WHITE

Much of Decatur's athletic success is due to Mr. White who serves as track coach as well as assistant to Mr. Kintner. Each fall Mr. White takes the sophomore candidates for football and drills them thoroughly in the fundamentals of the game. This training is evidently a great aid, as may be seen by the fact that it is nearly always the recruits from the reserves who furnish material for Decatur's teams.

Mr. White has produced outstanding track teams since he has been with Decatur High School.

Much of Mr. White's coaching ability was derived from his actual playing experience at the Illinois State Normal University, where he became a great athlete. While at that school he earned two letters in football, four letters in baseball, and a blanket, which is the highest award given at I.S.N.U.

FOOTBALL SEASON

Decatur High School Reds opened their 1934 football season away from home with a 7-0 victory over Centralia. The lone score of the game came in the first quarter as a result of a forward pass from Aubrey Taylor to Captain Deibert. Heavy rains before and during the game made it impossible for good ball carrying and ball handling.

The Red's first conference game was with Urbana. In spite of unfavorable weather Decatur's line plays worked well. Early in the third quarter, after a determined drive, Taylor went over from the one yard stripe for the only score of the game.

The third game was played in a sea of mud and water at Alton. After four rough hard fought quarters, the score still remained 0-0.

The next encounter was with Bloomington. The Red's title hopes received a severe jolt as a result of the excellent running of Al Nathan and Ben Swartz. Each scored one touchdown. The score was 13-0 for Bloomington.

The Red's third conference game was played against the unbeaten and unscored against gridders of Danville. Coach Whitesell's boys did not threaten seriously once and Rusty Owens' sensational halfback, was stopped entirely. A "sleeper pass" to Captain Dale Deibert set the stage for the lone score of the game. Taylor carried the ball over and the try for the extra point was good. A crowd of 3500 people saw this game at Danville.

In the battle for city supremacy a hard fighting St. Teresa team held the highly favored Reds to a 0-0 tie. A touchdown pass to Brinkoetter, opposing end, was not allowed as he stepped out of bounds to make the catch.

In the last home game of the season, the Reds dropped a heartbreaking 7-6 decision to Charleston. The kick from placement for the extra point struck the goal post and this proved to be the difference between victory and defeat.

Finally after two postponements the Peoria Central game was played. The Reds fumbled and gave the game to Peoria 14-8. This game was the first without Chuck Kinney and he was sorely missed.

The Reds displayed a sensational fourth quarter passing attack in their encounter with Mattoon. The game tied with a 13-13 score. Taylor did most of the passing with Harrison and Hurtt on the receiving end.

The Decatur High School football squad closed its 1934 football season with the annual Springfield Thanksgiving game. Playing in the muddy Springfield ball park, the Kintnemen went down on the small end of a 52-0 score. Springfield's heavier and more experienced team proved to be too much for Decatur. However the Reds showed until the final whistle that they could take it.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN

Dale Deibert

Dale was an outstanding captain; his offensive and defensive play was the feature of Decatur's line. For his great work he was chosen captain of the All Big Twelve Conference second team. He is a senior.

Charles Kinney

Although Chuck was not with us at the start or close of the season, he more than made up for this during the games in which he played. He was always the best defensive man of the field, and his blocking was nearly perfect.

Don Grummon

Don had an excellent season at guard this year. He was the fastest man on the team and his speed was evident when he caught many ball carriers from behind. His services will be missed next year.

Floyd Harrison

"Streaky" played with the reserves last season but made good with the regulars this year. He excelled in off-tackle smashes. His services will be missed next year.

Earl Crabtree

Earl is another one of our graduates. Midway in the season he was shifted from the backfield to the line. He paired with Bob Ray at tackle. This was his last year.

Aubrey Taylor

Taylor played his last year for Decatur High at quarterback. He was the mainstay of the offense and his passing featured many of the games.

Straley Heaton

Straley ended his football career at Decatur High as a guard. He played his greatest game at Danville, and his defensive play was always outstanding. He was honorable mention for conference honors.

Claude Inman

Claude was the regular center this year. He rarely made a bad pass, and his defensive work was always good. He is a senior.

Robert Ray

Although Bob had just come up from Roosevelt, he made a great showing. He was a first string tackle all year. He will be back next year.

Jack Hurtt

Although Jack was unable to play in the first three games because of a shoulder injury, he made a great showing during the rest of the season. His passing and offensive play were outstanding. He will be missed next year.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN

Donald Moreland

Although Don is a senior, this was his first year of football at Decatur High. Even though he was injured during most of the season, he participated in nearly all of the games.

Dorsey Humphrey

Dorsey injured his shoulder at the beginning of the season and was unable to play.

Francis Markland

"Marky" was a veteran of two years standing, but this year he got in enough quarters at guard to merit a letter. He is a senior.

Walter Schlie

"Walt" was injured most of the year and had very little opportunity to display his greatest asset—speed. When he was able to play, he did well. He is a senior.

Victor Cressler

"Vic" played his last year at quarterback. When he was on the field, he was always outstanding for his stubborn defensive work.

Fred Pennington

Fred was a fast and elusive ball carrier. He could always be counted upon for some sort of a gain. He will be back next year.

Robert Gross

Bob played the entire year at halfback. Although he was a good ball carrier, he excelled as a punter. In the Centraha game with a wet ball he punted three times over fifty-five yards.

Riley McDavid

Riley, who played with the reserves last year, was an end on the first squad this season. His aggressive, fighting spirit was a factor in his success. He will not be back next year.

Jack Smick

This was Jack's second season on the first squad at tackle. His even steady playing throughout the year was very characteristic. He is a senior.

John Pier

John was another guard who got his start with the reserves. His quiet earnestness marked him. He will be missed next season.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN

Edward Delbridge

"Ed" was one of our tackles. His steady, dependable playing was a factor in winning. He is a senior.

Charles Ellis

"Chuck" had hard luck last season because of injuries, but he returned this year and earned his letter at end. He will be missed next year.

Jack Coughlin

Jack is another senior who finished his career as an end. He always fought to the last and never gave up.

Carol Ford

Carol got his start with the reserves but made good and played this year at guard on the first squad. He will not be back next year.

Howard Gould

"Abe" played his last year at Decatur High as a center. His sincerity was his outstanding characteristic

BASKETBALL LETTERMEN

Jack Hurtt

Captain Jack Hurtt was one of the most valuable men on the team. He proved his ability as a basketball player by making the All-conference team.

Dorsey Humphrey

Dorsey Humphrey was another one of the players that Decatur lost at the end of the first semester. For the first half of the season he was always fighting hard for the team.

Dale Deibert

When Dale Deibert was on the floor he was always fighting for the ball. Many Decatur baskets were scored as a result of Dale's taking the ball from the other team.

Joe Murphy

Joe Murphy didn't play on the first team until the second semester, but he played a good game at center.

Dale Cochran

Dale Cochran, although he graduated at the end of the first semester, helped the team out a great deal. Dale was always in the thick of the game, giving his best.

Aubrey Taylor

Last year's captain, Aubrey Taylor was always a dangerous man for the opposing team to run up against. In losing Taylor at the end of the first semester, Decatur lost an excellent player.

Fred Pennington

Fred Pennington was the little boy who had such a good eye for the basket on one-handed shots. We are very fortunate in having "Reddie" back with us again next year.

Junior Thompson

Junior Thompson played a good game at center for the team this year. He will be back to help the boys out again next season.

Scott Page

Scott Page was that hard fighting little forward who played so hard for the team. Scott will not be back with us next year.

Everett Adams

Everett Adams was one of the last year's reserve players who proved to be very reliable to the team. Everett did most of his scoring for Decatur on long shots.

BASKETBALL LETTERMEN

Robert Green

Robert Green was another of last year's reserve players who made this year's varsity. Robert was a little man, but proved dangerous to his opponents by his expert ball handling and quick shooting.

Keith Henderson

Keith Henderson, a swift and nimble forward, is one of the seniors whom the team will miss next year. He also played on the reserves last year.

BASKETBALL SEASON

The Decatur High Reds opened their 1934-35 campaign on December 8th with an impressive 34-10 victory over the Illinois School for the Deaf. With four veterans and one new player in the lineup, the Reds presented a sturdy defense and a smooth offense. The outcome was never in doubt. Over 1200 persons witnessed the contest.

Bloomington: In their first encounter of the season the Reds whipped Bloomington 21-16. Aubrey Taylor had a great night and rolled up 13 points.

Springfield: From the starting whistle to the final gun the Springfield game was a thriller. The Reds led 10-8 at half time but their highly touted reserves and were downed 14-13 with two minutes to play. However a one-handed shot by Springfield's center decided the contest.

Bement: The night after the Springfield battle the Reds appeared again and defeated Bement 28-20.

Charleston: The Reds celebrated the Christmas holidays by trouncing Charleston 27-13. This avenged the heartbreaking 7-6 loss in football.

St. Teresa: A dazzling first half attack netted a 27-17 victory over St. Teresa. This wh kept intact the Red record of never having lost an athletic encounter to their city rivals.

Peoria Central: Decatur dropped the next encounter with Peoria Central by a 33-29 count.

Canton: In the next game played at Canton, the Reds came from behind during the last half and won 17-15.

Urbana: Next the Reds whipped Urbana. The score was 21-18.

Charleston: In the next encounter the Reds again came from behind and in the last quarter overtook Charleston and won 27-23. The insertion of Fred Pennington in the last quarter provided the necessary scoring punch.

Mattoon: Decatur next turned back Mattoon by a score of 29-13. The Reds jumped to an early lead and the outcome was never in doubt after the first quarter.

Danville: The next game was with the league leading Danville team. The Reds took a 20-0 start but finally lost 24-21. This was Danville's ninth straight victory.

Urbana: Urbana furnished the opposition for the next game. The Reds jumped to an early lead and piled up eleven points before Urbana really tallied. The score was 39-24 for Decatur.

Beardstown: The following night the Reds fell before Beardstown by a score of 20-12. This was the last game for Aubrey Taylor, Dorsey Humphrey and Dale Cochran. With the help of these three basketballers the Reds' record at mid semester was ten victories against four defeats.

Brocton: The next game was a charity contest with Brocton High School. These visitors, who have one of the greatest records in the state, proved a little too much for the Reds and annexed an 18-17 victory. The boys who graduated during the week were sorely needed.

Bloomington: The Reds reentered Big Twelve competition and were defeated by Bloomington 20-19. This was the second game in a row to be dropped by a one point margin.

Rantoul: The night after the Bloomington game Rantoul was defeated by Decatur 27-22.

St. Teresa: In a return game with St. Teresa the Reds were defeated 23-22. This was the first loss to our city rivals.

Mattoon: Mattoon next downed the Reds 30-24 and avenged their early season defeat.

Springfield: In this return encounter with Springfield the Reds were defeated 26-11. This was the Solons' ninth conference victory.

Quincy: In the last home game for the Reds, Quincy, defending state champions, defeated the local boys 29-21.

Edwardsville: The next game was a special encounter with Edwardsville. The Reds returned to form and downed the strong opposition 23-15.

Quincy: The Reds then traveled to Quincy and avenged their earlier defeat by whipping the state champions 24-23. The game was close throughout but Joe Murphy's free throw made the margin of victory.

I. S. D.: In the last scheduled game of the season the Reds flashed great form to win from the I. S. D. 22-18.

District Tournament: The Red men romped through their first games in the district tournament by an easy margin having only four field goals scored against them. However, they seemed to have spent their luck before their final game with Clinton. Clinton played a slow game to come out the winner of a hard fought 12-11 battle. The Reds had plenty of thrills while Fred Herdington had three winning baskets drop in only to roll around and come out.

TRACK

The Decatur High School 1934 track team was again composed of a fine group of athletes. Although the team as a whole was a little below the standard which the school usually maintains, it did make itself known as strong competition for other teams. From the first the squad was handicapped by the loss of their captain who received injuries early in the season. However, with a strong determined spirit they continued to fight for points in many meets.

Straley Heaton was the most consistent point getter of the team. He usually succeeded in getting a first or second in the shot or discus. Jack Kluburg and Malcolm Price also succeeded in placing in most of the meets.

MISS VANCE

Miss Edith Doloras Vance, teacher of physical training for girls, has finished her first year in Decatur High School. Miss Vance is a graduate of the University of Illinois. During her university life she took part in volleyball, apparatus, soccer, baseball, bowling, ping-pong, and tennis. For two years she was captain of her soccer team and for the same length of time captain of her apparatus team. In 1933 she not only won the singles championship in ping-pong but the doubles championship in bowling. The Women's Athletic Association awarded her the Gold Seal that same year for successful and consistent participation in activities.

Miss Vance was a member of Terrapin, honorary swimming organization, for three years. During the summer of 1934 she taught swimming at the Y. W. C. A. pool in Springfield, Illinois.

G. A. A. SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD

Achievements in girls' athletics, sportsmanship, scholarship and leadership—these are bases for the "G. A. A. Sportsmanship Award" presented each year to a senior girl.

Faye Collins was chosen this year because of the variety of her achievements. Not only should the girl be a leader, but she must also co-operate with her teachers and her classmates. And in all phases of G. A. A. work she should show herself to be a good sport. Faye has proved outstanding in all of these requirements. Besides her athletic ability, she has also maintained her scholastic standing.

Faye has served as president of G. A. A., has won the first and second awards, the state numeral and letter, and she has acquired her points consistently from year to year. She has been chosen as an all-around good sport.

VOLLEYBALL

SENIOR VOLLEYBALL

First row: Beck, Cruse, Livesey

Second row: Brady, Johnson, Corrington

There are three girls' volley ball teams, one for each class in school. In order to have a place on a team, a girl must have passing grades and practice twice a week for eight weeks. At the end of this term of practice the teams are chosen. Each girl qualifying is placed on a team and a tournament is held.

This year's tournament was played in November in the high school gymnasium after school hours. The method of conducting the tournament let the team having the most victories win. The winners were first place, senior team; second place, junior team; third place, sophomore team.

BASKETBALL

SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM

Back row: Brady, W. Johnson, P. Collins
Front row: Lancaster, Cruse, Schroat

Basketball is the major sport for the high school girls. A great deal of time and practice is required to prepare for the series of tournaments held each year.

About ten weeks is spent in tournament training. During this time each girl who wishes to be on a team must practice twice a week. Then three teams are chosen; a senior team, a junior team, and a sophomore team.

The round robin system of play was used in this year's tournament. The Senior team nosed out both of the other teams without much trouble

The scores at the end of the tournament stood as follows:

Sophomores 7	Juniors 29
Juniors 15	Seniors 45
Sophomores 11	Seniors 33

Miss Vance coached the girls and conducted the tournament.

TUMBLING

The advanced tumbling team is made up of thirteen girls. In order to be a member of the team the girls must be a member of G. A. A. Quite intensive practice is necessary in order to perfect the difficult stunts these girls perform.

The main program of the year by the tumblers was given late in the first semester. A double auditorium was held so that all students could enjoy the really professional entertainment. The same program was given for the P. T. A. in the spring.

The different pyramids formed by the girls are: "Human Span", "Balance Pyramid", "You Name It", and "The Big Stride".

The members of the tumbling team are: Rose Collins, Dorothy Beck, Wanda Johnson, Dorothy Shroat, June Winholtz, Elaine Lancaster, Kathleen Corrington, Roxie Witts, Marjorie Ambuehl, Callie Cruse, and Margaret Brady.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

For the first time in the history of the Decatur High School the girls in the physical training classes were given physical examinations early in the term to determine what type of training each needed. From the results of these physical examination reports, Miss Vance organized a corrective physical training class. Some of the girls in the class were there to gain weight, others to lose weight.

Miss Vance has stressed proper posture in her corrective class, how to walk correctly, stand correctly, and sit correctly. She also spent some time with corrective foot exercises to strengthen arches and ankles.

THE DECANOIS

The Decanois is published each year by the senior class in the Decatur High School. The book planned for seniors especially, attempts to include all worth while activities in the school, as many student photographs as possible, organization pictures with brief accounts of each organization, and whatever else the Decanois staff feels will make a valued memory book.

In comparison with the bi-monthly Observer, the Decanois is a very young publication. The Observer passed its fortieth birthday in 1933. The Decanois is about twenty years younger and is really an outgrowth of the Observer. Once, when the Observer was a monthly publication, the June issue each year was called the commencement number. This issue contained a group picture of the faculty, a group picture of each literary society, one of the graduating class massed in front of the old Central Building, and possibly a group of those chosen for the commencement day program. What was lacking in the number and style of pictures was made up in elaborately written class histories and prophecies, stories, and jokes. Bound in a paper jacket and tied with a silk cord, these little magazines were sold to the commencement day audience at twenty-five cents each.

As the high school grew, a larger and more elaborate record of high school life seemed necessary. The earlier Decanois issues were paper-covered and somewhat like those June Observers in content. Today, the Decanois is a two hundred page volume handsomely bound in board covers, a fair example of the change in educational times.

Each volume of the Decanois costs more than the subscription price of two dollars. This difference in cost and sale prices forms one of the largest problems of the Decanois Business Staff. Advertising is one source of income. In three to five hundred class photographs and other organization fee for picture and write-up is a third. In 1934 the Decanois started a very worth while method of earning money. A directory of all Decatur High School students was compiled with the addresses of each and telephone number of those who could be reached by telephone. This little book was sold to the student body and a good profit realized. This project was repeated by the 1935 staff.

The style and content of the Decanois is governed by rather strict rules set forth by the Illinois State High School Press Association and the National Association of Junior High School Directors. The suggestions and criticisms of these organizations help to make it possible for the Decanois to rank among the outstanding high school publications in the country.

THE OBSERVER

The Observer has called national attention to itself this year by being one of the first organizations to use moving pictures of school activities as a source of income. With the marked withdrawal of advertising by local merchants in every community, high school and college newspapers have been at a loss to find means of support. Many papers have stopped publication entirely and others have met the depression with smaller issues at higher rates. The Observer has weathered the present conditions, publishing an excellent paper at its usual subscription price, and contributed a delightful and entertaining feature to the school and community besides.

Last year the Observer thought of this unique way to aid its business management. Harvey Sellers and his movie camera were seen at every important activity the school gave. Early in the spring the results of this photography were shown in a dime auditorium. The auditorium was filled twice for the student audience and again in the evening for the general public. While these showings paid for the filming and left a balance for the Observer, their real value lay in the experience gained for 1935.

A definite plan of procedure for filming activities in and about the Decatur High School by the Observer business staff with Harvey Sellers as cameraman resulted in a really finished production in the auditorium on February twenty-second. Harris Beck was narrator for the show and Jack Price was the accompanist. All major functions and activities of school life lived again. The first day of school with the incoming sophomores, the impressive mid-year class day, the beautiful Christmas vespers, the tumbling auditorium, all of the interesting and entertaining bits of the year delighted the audience. Again the Observer earned money and gained experience.

Miss Ethel Parkinson, adviser of the Observer editorial staff, at the request of "The Scholastic Editor", wrote a very complete and entertaining description of the Observer movies for the February issue of that magazine. Since "The Scholastic Editor" is the official organ of the National Association of Journalism Directors for secondary schools, the fame of the Observer movies has spread rapidly. "The American Boy", an outstanding magazine for young people, has requested the use of Miss Parkinson's article.

The Observer is already planning its 1936 production with the help of student and faculty committees.

THE HERALD-REVIEW STORY CONTEST

One of the long established customs of Decatur High School is the annual Herald-Review Story Contest. In 1895 The Decatur Review promoted this contest to stimulate interest in literature. All Decatur High School students may participate in it. Each year cash prize awards are offered for the five best short stories submitted. Honorable mention is given to fifteen students.

This year four of the five prize winners were seniors and one a sophomore. Nine seniors, four juniors, one sophomore, and one post-graduate received honorable mention.

The judges of the 1934 contest were Reverend Owen W. Pratt, Miss Olive M. Bear, and Mrs. John C. Hessler.

Awards were made as follows:

First—James Hess.

Second—Marian Ackerly.

Third—Joy Burcham.

Fourth—Evelyn Sandberg.

Fifth—Kenneth Poarch.

These contestants were awarded honorable mention: Byron Brown, Louis Rost, Phil Miller, May Eagleton, Ruth Muffley, Harris Beck, John Cannon, Dorry Daeschlin, Kathryn Hershberger, Malcolm Price, Harold Rhodes, Frank Curry, Maud Flower Eichman, Berneice Deyton.

LINCOLN ESSAY CONTEST

Doris Sayre

Harris Beck

The annual Lincoln essay contest was won this year by Doris Sayre with her essay, "Lincoln in the Light of His Writings", and Harris Beck with his essay, "The Man on the Penny". Each one received thirty dollars which will be given to them at commencement.

A sum was left by Mrs. Inez J. Bender, from which the interest provides the awards.

The essay is judged on three things: the content of a theme from six hundred to one thousand words dealing with Lincoln's life, a reading of a portion of the essay, and citizenship.

On Lincoln's birthday the two winning essays were given. Then Mr. Baker of Millikin spoke to the students about Lincoln.

MARY W. FRENCH HONORS

One of the highest awards given to seniors of the Decatur High School is the Mary W. French honor. Miss French, formerly a teacher in Decatur High, left one thousand dollars, the interest from which was to be given to the two seniors best fulfilling the requirements made by Miss French.

The winners are the two members of the graduating class most deserving of the honor because of scholarship, leadership, and citizenship. Mr. Sayre and the heads of departments choose the winners.

Awards are made at commencement. The first prize, won by Harris Beck, is thirty dollars, and the second prize, won by Ruth Ross, is twenty dollars.

IDA K. MARTIN CONTEST

The Ida K. Martin award is made at June Commencement each year. Miss Martin left a fund to the school in 1920 which permits two thirty dollar prizes to be given annually. The contestants for these prizes must be members of either the mid-year or June graduating class not a Lincoln Essay winner. One award goes to a girl, the other to a boy. The contestant is judged first, on a patriotic essay of one thousand words or less; second, upon delivery of this essay; and third, upon citizenship. Special judges are appointed to grade the essays and their delivery. The citizenship standing is given by the faculty. The winners in the Martin Contest for 1935 are

COMMERCIAL CONTEST

The annual district commercial contest was held in Decatur High School, Saturday, April the twenty seventh, under the direction of Miss Mary Parker. Approximately one hundred twenty five pupils from high schools in Central Illinois participated in the contest. Decatur won first place in every short-hand event, in amateur and open typing and second place in bookkeeping. Forty-five points were scored by the Decatur teams while Mattoon teams placed second with twenty two points. Alice Marie Jones headed all of the typists, typing 62.1 words per minute. Alice Marie also won first place in the 120 word individual short hand event. Rose Calamello, Larena Schwalbe, and Evelyn Maurer also won first places in their respective short-hand events.

The sectional tournament was held in Decatur on May eleventh and the state contest in Champaign on May eighteenth.

FIFTY DOLLAR MILLIKIN SCHOLARSHIP

The members of the faculty of the Decatur High School who are graduates of James Millikin University and those members who have attended Millikin decided to award a fifty dollar Millikin Scholarship to the 1937 high school class. A committee composed of Mr. Abell, Miss Foran, and Miss Yoder were appointed to select the winner of this award. Last year the business men of Decatur contributed a number of these scholarships to be given to worthy students. This year Millikin hopes for an even greater contribution.

The faculty's scholarship, awarded to, not only helps Millikin in her drive for these scholarships but draws Millikin and the high school into closer relationship.

BIG TWELVE CONTEST

The Big Twelve organization is made up of the following high schools: Springfield, Bloomington, Champaign, Mattoon, Lincoln, Peoria Central, Peoria Manual, Pekin, Urbana, Danville, Decatur, and Streator. These schools contest annually for first place in football and basketball. In the spring a literary competition is held among representatives from each school which is called "The Big Twelve Contest." This year the contest was held at Pekin Community High School on May third.

The following people represented Decatur High School in the various events:

MID-YEAR CLASS PLAY

"Big Hearted Herbert" by Sophia Kerr and Anna Steese Richardson was presented by the Mid-year class on November 2 in the high school auditorium.

The story centers around Herbert Kalness, a self-made business man who likes plain living. He objects to his son's going to a construction camp and then to college and he also objects to the engagement of his daughter, Alice, to Andy Goodrich, a Harvard man. Much humor is furnished by Herbert's wife who gives him an overdose of plain living. This cures him of his selfish ideas, and his family manage to make him give in to their desires.

Miss Connard coached the play, and Miss Hukey was the business manager.

THE ROMANTIC AGE

The Class of 1935 presented "The Romantic Age" a three act comedy, by A. A. Milne on May the third in the high school auditorium.

The story is of an English girl, Melisande, who wanted to find the true lover of her dreams in an everyday world. She finds this person in the woods one morning. He is dressed as a gallant because he slept in his car all night after a fancy dress ball. However, Mr. Mallory, who is the man she met, calls at her home and she finds he is on the stock exchange, as is Bobby whom her parents want her to marry. She tries to go back to Bobby, but she finds he is in love with her cousin, Jane. Finally she realizes how foolish she is and marries Mr. Mallory. Most of the humor of the play is furnished by Melisande's parents.

Miss Fike directed the play, and Mr. Abell was the business manager.

STYLE SHOW

Miss Murphy's clothing classes gave a style show to entertain the parents and teachers at the annual P. T. A. supper last May. The program was given by the girls in the clothing department dressed in costumes made by themselves. Miss Robertson assisted Miss Murphy in preparing the entertainment.

During the past school year the clothing classes have taken an active part in school life. At Christmas time, they dressed sixty dolls for Toyland. They have assisted in making and altering costumes for both the opera and the Senior Play. When the vocational meeting was held for the P. T. A. in April, the clothing classes exhibited their work.

At the James Millikin University state contest for Home Economics students this spring, two girls from the clothing class won places. Marie Hall received recognition for a school dress which she designed and made herself. Annabelle Dowell placed in the contest for art in homemaking.

HOME NURSING

During the third semester of Home Economics, home nursing, care of the sick, home planning, and dietetics are taught. Miss Troutman has a trained nurse demonstrate important phases of nursing to the class. The care and feeding of babies and children is stressed.

Other work aside from the regular cooking lessons is accomplished by the home economics girls. During the fall meeting of the Macon County Teachers' Institute, girls from these classes were asked to serve the annual banquet in the Masonic Temple. They purchased material for uniform caps and aprons and Miss Murphy's sewing classes made them. Again, later in the year, these girls were waitresses for an evening party and dance at the Masonic Temple.

The home economics dining room is always kept in order for the use of any organization desiring it. The girls in charge are efficient and artistic in their arrangements and are taught to be delightful hostesses.

BIG TWELVE ART CUP ART DEPARTMENT

1934 BIG 12 ART CONTEST

The Big Twelve Art Contest was held in the Urbana High School in May, 1934. The subject chosen for the contest was travel posters. Decatur High School won first place through John Klinker, adding another beautiful silver trophy cup to its collection. John Klinker was art editor of the Decanois last year and associate editor the year before. Third place in the contest was taken by John Smith and fifth place by Theodore Sharpes.

POPPY DAY POSTER CONTEST

Each year the American Legion Auxiliary sponsors a Poppy Day Poster Contest. The prizes are three dollars and two dollars. Several honorable mentions are given.

The students do not consider the prizes in making these posters. Their interest lies in designing posters which will urge others to buy these poppies. The poppies are made by disabled veterans of the World War. The sale of these paper flowers on Decoration Day is the only way many of them have of earning money.

In the 1934 contest, Kenneth Gandy won first prize and Harry Bloomquist won second prize. Honorable mention was given to William Kelly, Paul Morrison, Frances Hays, and Donna Dawson. The prizes were awarded these contestants in an art auditorium by Mr. Ziese, who represented the American Legion.

BIG TWELVE ART WINNERS

ART DEPARTMENT

The students in the art department planned and made the decorations for the Macon County Teachers' Institute Banquet held in the Masonic Temple during the October Institute. The theme for the decorations was based upon a quotation from Theodore Roosevelt which urged us to carry on the torch of our forefathers. The large torch decorating the wall behind the speaker's table and the individual torch nut cups for the tables were the work of the students. Girls from the Foods class, under the direction of Miss Troutman, did the serving. The orchestra, with Mr. Rees directing, played before and during the banquet. Twenty-four high school girls dressed in white classical robes and carrying lighted tapers led the guests to the tables and stood at either end of the room while the guests were being seated.

The art department also assisted in the planning of another party when the Order of the Amaranth entertained at the Masonic Temple. French dance programs, menu cards, and other decorations were made in the art classes. Again the Home Economics girls acted as waitresses.

MEMORIALS

Hobart Hoots painted the Roman alphabet on the front blackboard in the art room and a modern poster alphabet on a large panel over the blackboard. These are to serve as permanent gifts to the department.

Harry Harper, another advanced art student, made two panels of numerals and one of punctuation marks to be hung on the side wall as aid to future students in the art department.

ART DEPARTMENT

CHRISTMAS EXHIBIT

At Christmas time the annual exhibit of original craft work was held by the art students in room 218. The exhibit lasted three days which enabled every student in school to see it. The English classes visited the exhibit on a schedule arranged by Miss Parkinson. Many parents, the faculty, and friends of the school attended also.

Wall hangings of dyed silk pongee were exhibited by Eileen Ritchie, Eutana Wolcott, and Mary Beth James. Dorcas Ward displayed illuminated lettering and painted pictures on parchment. Howard Gould, Dorothy Mae Jones, May Knapp, and Carolyn Schlie designed and painted colorful wall plaques. Henrietta Dawson made scrap books covered with checkered gingham. Harry Harper and Hobart Hoots excelled in phone book and magazine covers of book-binders linen. William Kelly, Kenneth Gandy, and Mary Beth James displayed some very fine block prints. Each student in the three art classes had at least one thing in the exhibit and many displayed several types of handicraft.

Some of the advanced art students acted as ushers at the exhibit and told the guests about the work on display. Others demonstrated wood block cutting and the use of the press in printing.

All of the art students wore bright colored smocks which added much to the attractiveness of the exhibit.

ART DEPARTMENT

EXHIBITS

The annual May exhibit was held at the Art Institute. The exhibit was mounted on green boards against the ivory walls of the display rooms. One feature of the exhibit was the art work for the 1935 Decanois by Harry Bloomquist. A new subject exhibit was industrial design, old-fashioned and modern. Examples of figure drawing, composition, color harmony, designed perspective, lettering, and other craft work were exhibited.

An exhibit of industrial designing was held by the art department for the vocational meeting of the P. T. A. Each student was represented in the display. Mrs. Meyer and some of the students acted as hosts and hostesses during the evening.

MASKS

Some interesting masks were made and decorated in the art department this year. "The Pirate," a grotesquely painted head with a knife in its mouth, was made by William Pusey. William Kelly made "Lee Ling Lo," a Chinese mask with a huge headdress. "Cleopatra," by Emogene Weakley and "Naf-retete," by John Hartley, were very good. Eleanor Schudel and Carroll Banks made French models. W. A. Dipper designed a clown mask. There were two dramatic masks—"Tragedy" and "Mirth" by Monroe Meadors and a little Dutch boy and a little Dutch girl by Emogene Weakley.

ART DEPARTMENT

POSTERS

Almost every department in school calls upon the art department for help with signs, charts, arrangement of exhibits, or for posters at some time or many times during the school year. The department does its best to give excellent service.

Clubs, lodges, and committees of community affairs call on the department almost constantly for help. This help is given when it is possible to combine it with school work or to give it as extra work to an advanced student.

School departments that have had help with posters or other help are: athletics, Observer subscription, Observer dances, Observer Movies, Observer auditoriums, Decanois auditoriums, Decanois subscriptions, mid-year senior play, June senior play, commercial department, home economics department, and cafeteria.

Civic affairs represented are: Community Chest, Art Institute Benefit Card Party, Masonic Temple, and American Legion.

All students in the department have helped with the work but an extra amount of superior quality was done by Hobart Hoots, Harry Harper, Carolyn Schlie, Frances Hays, Evelyn Williams, Dorcas Ward, William Kelly, Kenneth Gandy, Mary Beth James, Winifred Diller, Darrel Roberts, June McClure, and Paul Morrison.

MANUAL TRAINING

The manual training department of the Decatur High School is housed in what used to be the car barns one block east of the school. Before the department was moved into this building it occupied the space where the cafeteria of the High School now is. This was not satisfactory because of the noise made by the saws and because the quarters were too cramped. The present building permits plenty of space not only for the manual training boys but for Mr. Birkhead's boys in mechanical drawing as well.

Last spring, the manual training boys made cedar chests. These were beautifully finished, polished with brass mountings. During this year the boys worked on tables, smoking stands, and other articles of furniture.

SNAPSHOTS

One feature of the Decanois always is viewed with great interest by its readers. This feature consists of the pages of snapshots. The material for these pages is solicited during the year from the students of the school. The members of the staff who work on these pages have great difficulty in arousing sufficient interest in contributions to insure the kind of snapshots wanted by the subscribers to the Decanois.

After the mass of snapshots has been obtained, the sorting begins. Each page has its own theme. The pictures on this page must not only carry out this theme but must contain figures of relatively the same size. Often good material is set aside because the figures in the pictures are too small. Then, pictures are handed in which are blurred, or too indistinct.

The selection being completed, the snaps are pasted on card boards of either the same size as the page which is to appear in the book or on boards similar in shape but larger. The larger boards are reduced to the proper size by the engraver when he prepares the plates from which the snapshot pages are printed. This cutting and pasting of the pictures is very laborious as well as difficult work. It is done in the art department by members of the art classes who are also on the Decanois staff. The Decanois has received much praise for the neatness and skill shown in preparing this portion of the book.

Because the Decanois must use the snaps which are handed in by the students, it always finds a lack of the best material. In order to remedy this condition, the Decanois offered prizes for good snaps this year. The first prize was donated by Mr. Pease of the Rembrandt Studio and consisted of an enlarged photograph of the member of the Senior Class handing in the best picture. The second and third prizes were donated by the Decanois itself. The second was a copy of the Decanois and the third was one dollar.

The winner of the first prize was Jane Oakes with a picture of herself when a baby. Baby pictures are always of great interest especially when they resemble their owners at the present time. The second prize went to David Quale. David's picture was of himself fishing in a pool. The picture was interesting and beautifully taken, with attractive shadows and lights. The third prize went to Henrietta Good. This picture was also of the one winning the prize. This was more of a portrait but had good posing and background.

SENIOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

The annual senior party was held in December in the Armory. Bill Curran's ten piece orchestra played. Decorations consisted of a large Christmas tree at the north end of the room. After the dance the tree was brought to the high school and placed in the hall by Room 322. It was left here until Christmas vacation and was the first tree to be used in the high school in this way. Blue lights and tinsel covered the tree and artificial snow was placed around the bottom of it. All lights around the wall were covered with blue paper, and the grandstand was also decorated in blue.

Those not wishing to dance were entertained with ping-pong and cards. Tables for these games were placed along the walls outside the dance floor.

Punch was served during the dance. The table was in the northeast corner with a large white cloth on it, blue tapering candles, and a large cut glass punch bowl. Small fancy wafers were also served.

The Junior-Senior Party and Dance on May eleventh was held in the Armory. Decorations were very elaborate and a fourteen piece orchestra played. This dance proved to be one of the outstanding and successful proms of recent years.

The last big social event for the Class of 1935 was the picnic and dance at Mueller Heights on May 31.

INTER-SOCIETY BANQUET AND DANCE

A place full of mirrors, broken mirrors, black cats, and skulls and cross bones, the high school cafeteria was transformed into a real hoodoo chamber for the annual Inter-Society banquet. The theme of superstition was carried out in the speeches. The Rev. Mr. Cutlip was the main speaker, with George Walraven serving as toastmaster. The toasts from the four societies were given by Paul Swarm, Forum; Robert Vance, Rotaro; Betty Grubbs, Aristos; and Ruth Ross, Agora.

The dance was held in the Gold Room at the Armory with Lee Homebrook's orchestra playing. The Inter-Society banquet has been a tradition since the early days of the Inter-Society contests, and for the last three years it has been held in the form of a dinner and dance.

JUNIOR ART LEAGUE DANCE

The Junior Art League sponsored a Hallowe'en dance, The Graveyard Shivers, in the gymnasium on the afternoon of October 26th. The decoration committee: Keith Robinson, Hobart Hoots, Howard Gould, Mary Beth James, Frances Hays, Henrietta Dawson, and Eleanor Schudel, created a very realistic cemetery about the dance floor. Tombstones with humorous epitaphs, skeletons, and similar decorations bathed in blue lights added to the weird atmosphere.

A floor show was furnished by Harry Bloomquist, Eutana Wolcott, and Bette Clendenning. Fred Pennington and Emogene Weakley dressed as gypsies gave out fortunes. Harry Bloomquist acted as master of ceremonies. Bill Taylor's orchestra furnished the music.

Tickets were block-printed by Kenneth Gandy from a block designed and cut by William Kelly. Enough tickets were sold to clear thirty dollars. The receipts were invested in a Philco radio for the drawing room.

DANCES

Nearly every organization in Decatur High School sponsored at least one dance this year. Such dances are held in the high school gymnasium from three-forty o'clock to five o'clock. A small orchestra is engaged and any high school student is allowed to attend.

The most elaborate dance of this kind was "Graveyard Shivers" given by the Junior Art League. The decorations and program were furnished by the art students.

These dances always have very unique and appealing names. Some of them are: "Barnyard Shuffle," "The Turkey Trot," "Winter Wrestle," "Spring Festival," and "Witches Frolic."

Quite elaborate advertising announced these dances. Mrs. Meyer's art students make colorful posters which are placed in the front hall and in nearly every home room.

The main object of such dances is to get money. The most made on any dance this year was thirty dollars. The average amount made is about twelve dollars.

Not only did the smaller organizations such as clubs sponsor these dances, but also classes and publications. They have proven to be the most popular means for student organizations to build up their treasuries.

SEPTEMBER

Tuesday, September 4

Oh! The irony of it all!! After such a glorious summer vacation and then have to get up with the chickens and start in on the old grind again.

Wednesday, September 5

In the Observer auditorium today a glimpse "backward" into the future made us all feel we were "born thirty years too soon." Ah me, what a life.

Thursday, September 6

Lost! Strayed! or Stolen! One sophomore from room 13. Last seen when looking for room 303. Any information concerning same will be appreciated. No reward! We suggest looking in the elevators.

Friday, September 7

Gee!! What a grand 'nd glorious feel-in' to sling the books in the closet, get on the glad rags, and go galavantin'.

Monday, September 10

Aristos throws an Old Heidelberg party for new members with beer 'nd pretzels. Ah!-naughty!-naughty! We thought we noticed a lot of good spirits.

Tuesday, September 11

Wonder if Miss Fran knows the alphabet by this time—322 is finally settled.

Wednesday, September 12

Can you imagine sophisticated juniors and dignified seniors talking to themselves such as—knit two, purl two, etc.

Thursday, September 13

Wonder what "Kyle" had to eat last night? The neighbors heard her yelling about snakes in her bed. Whata "night snake!"

Friday, September 14

Our football boys beat Centralia 7-0 in spite of the downpour—or maybe it was on account of it—Who knows? Anyway, Bob Gross said the mud was like a feather bed.

Monday, September 17

What a backward bunch of damsels the Agora girls turned out to be—Yhw t'nod uoy og pu dna ees meht emos emit.

P. S.—Betty Quinlan doesn't think you can see through this.

Tuesday, September 18

Heard today that the gals could join the Radio Club. Wonder if Mary Allen went.

Wednesday, September 19

Keen pep meeting this morning. Mr. Kintner even forgot his garters, and Mr. Nelson told different jokes in each auditorium.

Thursday, September 20

Bright sayings of a sophomore in history class: "Pastures", the great French physician, tells you how to prevent mad dog bites if you catch 'em in time."

Friday, September 21

These "Mid-Years" have started "it" again—more of them thar matinee dances.

Monday, September 24

Last Friday night all the Decaturites donned "gooloshes" and watched the boys beat Urbana 6-0.

Tuesday, September 25

Really our Decanois Directory has proven an incentive to the two Billies (Burns and Wright). Guess what! They're doing without lunch and going to classes without their lessons (nothing new) just to take money for subscriptions.

Wednesday, September 26

What a daffy day! Phil Miller slipped and fell on the wet sidewalk, and was Jessie embarrassed. And Mr. Sprunger's little boy, Jimmie, tumbled down the front steps. Oh me! These clumsy boys.

Thursday, September 27

Writing this calendar is sure good brain exercise. By the end of the year we'll be hardened tongue wagers. Are your ears burnin'?

Friday, September 28

Have you noticed the new couple that are here, there (and everywhere) together? Yes, Billy Cobb and Virginia Van Deventer. Bill seems to like brunettes.

OCTOBER

Monday, October 1

Seniors got off to a flying start with the "chawming" (?) Mr. Beck reciting the Constitution. A gleam of confidence was on his countenance—'cause he knew all the time the Constitution would be accepted. (He was chairman.)

Tuesday, October 2

Scandal! Scandal! Someone (we won't let the cat out of the bag) saw Mr. Errol R. Odor sipping a soda with Sellers (Virginia) all alone in the side room at Peck's. Death! Death!

Wednesday, October 3

Poor Rosie—Mr. Nelson just won't give her any peace. She's "Madame President with the jitters" to him. She can't do her chemistry experiments right 'cause she's so jittery about bein' nominated.

Thursday, October 4

We've got the tall and the short up for sergeant at-arms. Dick and Stanley. Bless their little hearts.

Friday, October 5

Senior meetings are too much for Ed Bradley. He came into 322 all hot and bothered after discussion on nominees for treasurer was over and sank in his seat and sighed—Whew!!

Monday, October 8

Reds had their goal line crossed for the first time Saturday. Bloomington did it—they did.

P. S.—Beck and Miller head the seniors from now on.

Tuesday, October 9

All that was needed when the firemen's quartet sang this morning was sawdust and peanuts. And maybe—uh—have the faculty serve some soap suds.

Wednesday, October 10

All youse guys and youse gals can make hay for four days. What do you all think of Teachers' Institute?

Thursday, October 11

Vacation.

Friday, October 12

Ditto.

Monday, October 15

"Pretty Boy" Floyd ran 52 yards to the goal line—but he had to go back. Anyhow, we won from Danville 7 to 0.

Tuesday, October 16

Had first intersociety contest last night. Joanne McDavid (of Aristos) won first place in interpretative reading.

Wednesday, October 17

High school students appreciated the splendid talk given by Father Newman of St. Teresa during the pep meeting today.

Thursday, November 1

I heard that Miss Miller and Miss Drobisch played some of the most kiddish Hallowe'en pranks. They turned out the lights all over the place. Tut! Tut! children.

Friday, November 2

The senior play was grand! Didn't Jack make a divine father? Poor Albert, I'll bet he had a stomach ache after all those bananas.

Monday, November 5

Our football team was rained out of Peoria Saturday, and Pennington was sure glad. He says he just loves to sit by the fireside on rainy nights with Imogene

Tuesday, November 6

Horace Pettee (Petric to you) told Miss Foran that senior dues was pilin' up. She was so elated that she executed a spring dance in the hall by 322. (With arm movements 'nd everything)

Wednesday, November 7

Boy, we just can't wait 'till Mr. White puts on his fan dance. Here's hopin' we sell a thousand tickets.

Thursday, November 8

Whoops m'dear, ain't love just grand! We didn't know we had such theatrical geniuses on our faculty, but you should have seen Mr. Lemar, Miss Stapp, and Mr. Abell in "Here Comes Charlie."

Friday, November 9

We learned in auditorium this morning that we'll get a bigger kick out of life if we can look in the mirror every morning and say, "I like that guy." We won't mention any names, but there ought to be some people around here who should get along pretty well.

Wednesday, November 14

Tom Baker said he sat up all night trying to get his Review story in on time. Oh, yeah!

Thursday, November 15

The awfulest mixup—Bennet has a date with the principal's daughter the night after the said person's dad had given "dark and handsome" a talking to. Somp'ins wrong.

Friday, November 16

If it isn't one trot it's another. Tonight the Home Ec. lassies are bringing home the bacon with a Turkey Trot.

Monday, November 19

Mr. Nickel is the proud papa of a new baby girl. From now on he'll be the official floor walker.

Tuesday, November 20

More bloodshed! Paul Anton Gabriel runned over a guy, and "Georgie Porgie" (Walraven) got knocked down by a great big car.

Wednesday, November 21

Mr. White asked Duane Smith who Simon Legree was. After much concentratin' the bright boy replied: I know!!! He was Topsy's father!!!

Thursday, November 22

Billy Taylor's got a new flame. We hear she's a cheer leader for good old Hilltop.

Friday

DECEMBER

Monday, December 3

Little William Kelley won a turkey prize. Now the turkey rates the movie magazine—notice we said the "turkey"—not Kelley.

Tuesday, December 4

All the ittie-bittie sophs have a class for themselves. We see in the "Observer" that Bobbie Fox and Betty Weaver are two of their talented (?) politicians.

Wednesday, December 5

Miss Foran and James Hess have exclusive conferences every evening outside 322. Jimmie's ancestors were all poets, so we heard, and he is following in their footsteps.

Charles Kinney made a name for himself in Mattoon. To them he's just a little plugger-upper.

Friday, December 7

We think Jack Hertz is the handsomest man, especially in his basketball outfit (what there is of it). Anyway, we won 34-10

Monday, December 10

Rotaro came through the Inter-Society Contest with flying colors. It was a close call, though. Agora was only a half point behind.

Tuesday, December 11

Maybe Jimmie's conferences with Miss Foran did some good after all. He won the Review Story Contest and got presented with fifteen bucks this morning.

Wednesday, December 12

'Member Betty Chambers, don't cha? Well, she's back from Indianapolis visiting the ex-calendar writer, Katherine Hamilton.

Thursday, December 13

Baby-face Powell looked so sweet riding around to all the rooms flourishing a toy pistol. Oh, you big bad man!

Friday, December 14

The faculty's gonna have to dance, we're afraid. Dorsey sold five more tickets.....so now we only have 40 to go.

Monday, December 17

We shall review for you, what and who were at the senior party last Saturday night: a Xmas tree, Maudie and Darell, an orchestra, Barbara Mc and David Lindberg, and Marg Pruitt and Pete Shugart.

Tuesday, December 18

Saw Tommy Crawford and Don Hamman in Post's sniffing all the Lucien Le-long perfume.....Guess who the lucky girls are?

Wednesday, December 19

The Juniors got organized today with John McKeown swinging the gavel, Errol Odor as vice, Janice Freck pushing the pencil and Paul Lyons counting the sheckels

Thursday, December 20

Ann McMillen and Ruthie Schudel came home on the same train today. Ann told us that they practiced all the way on their southern accents but didn't have the heart to use them

Friday, December 21

The Vespers, directed by Miss Pease, were grand, as usual, and they started a perfect Xmas vacation—we hope!

JANUARY

Thursday, January 3, 1935

More rushing around and now it's all over—The dance at the Orlando the night after Xmas brought out many of the high school "chill'uns" looking stiff and happy in new tuxes and formals.

Friday, January 4

We're so disappointed, we almost had the game "in the bag" and the Peoria team beat us in the last second 35-29.

Monday, January 7

The real grind starts today. Last week we only caught up on lost sleep.

Tuesday, January 8

Again we turn to Mr. White's law class for humor—Mr. White: "What is the Alamo?" Dick Wilson: "I know—it's what you put on pie!"

Thursday, January 10

Miss Zona Gale, a novelist, spoke in the auditorium to many of the juniors and seniors.

Friday, January 10

The Forum dance was quite a success with “Danny” Dreamer and Kyle finishing the night fantastic. But they were just guests—you should have seen the members go at it

Monday, January 14

Carolyn and Eutona sure looked sleepy this morning. They just got back from a round of dances at dear old U. of I. Do they rate!

Tuesday, January 15

Bettie Quinlan got back today after setting at home all day yesterday to read detective stories; so now we'll continue the calendar. (She blushed and protested vehemently to this, but that's all the good it did)

Wednesday, January 16

Don't you think Bob Fox talks an awful lot? I guess that's the reason he likes Miss Olson—no competition.

Thursday, January 17

Gregory came in with bright maroon socks on today. Were her feet red!!

Friday, January 18

The Mid-years look charming in their bathrobes. They had a swell class day program—boy, can Jack Scharnberg croon

Monday, January 21

Exams today. Everyone went in gloomy and came out gloomier except the midyears. Why even Fletcher Carson and Bob Thumens led smiles on their faces.

Tuesday, January 22

These teachers are spoiled. Just 'cause they give exams one year, they think they can get away with it every year.

Wednesday, January 23

Had the G. A. A. auditorium today. Gee, we thought Elaine Lancaster and Margaret Grady were going to break their necks.

Thursday, January 24

We played Urbana tonight and we won 39-24. Play another tomorrow night, but what are we going to do without Taylor, Humphrey, Cochran and Harrison?

Friday, January 25

There must be a flu epidemic or something because there were 200 absentees (skippers to you) on the list this morning.

Monday, January 28

What a “conglomeration” of new sophs, sophisticated seniors and midyears that came back as P. G.'s (as per usual).

Tuesday, January 29

Glory Be—The greenies have something we didn't have—numbers on all the doors and signs leading everywhere—maybe 303 won't be lost this year.

Wednesday, January 30

I guess we seniors just don't rate the President's Ball. About the only ones were under-grads such as Martha Eileen Blakeney and Jimmy McQuinn.

Friday, February 1

Somebody told us that all they read the calendar for is to see their names, so here goes—Jack Shaw, Aileen Madden, John Brown, Elizabeth Geiger, Robert Whitaker and Frances Rogier — etc. How's that?

Monday, February 4

It seems a "Bachelors' Club"?? has been organized in our institution. They have to come to school barefooted at least once in June. Wish they'd have more pity on the rest of the student body.

Tuesday, February 5

Barbara doesn't live at home anymore. She and Ruth are living together. We wonder if this isn't a game. Eutana and Carolyn aren't the only ones.

Wednesday, February 6

St. Teresa beat us tonight, by one point. The score was 23-22; and boy, was it exciting

Thursday, February 7

The DeMolay Minstrel is over at last. Did you notice "Toots" Slocum's funny expression when she danced? Thelma Simms shot someone in the show, but surely, Carl, you can do better than to associate with a criminal.

Friday, February 8

Harry Sacriter and Bill Hamman are giving a swell subscription dance at the Orlando tonight.—Saw Paul Swarm asking Sue Stubblefield to go.

Monday, February 11

For several long weeks Earl Crabtree has been courting Martha Collins down by her ol' locker.

Tuesday, February 12

Tom Crawford is seen every noon talking to a flock of girls—mainly Roberta.

Wednesday, February 13

Jane Oakes has a terrible time. She is so little that she has to stand on a stool to turn a gas tube upside down in a water pan

Thursday, February 14

We would say that as for laughs—Dick Stratman and Roy Hale take the cake.

Friday, February 15

The Observer is literally covered with ads—Wonder what their line is? Maybe it's due to Ed Rodgers—that big business man

Monday, February 18

From the looks of things we think an absentee list better be made for teachers; there were about eleven absent from school the first of the week.

Tuesday, February 19

We wouldn't be gossiping or anything but have you noticed the new romances blooming now that it's getting near spring—Helen Wilson and Harvey and Mac and Dale Miller, for instance.

Wednesday, February 20

Lots of the gals got invitations to a dinner tomorrow night. We're gettin' out the old etiquette books and looking up a few things—believe you me.

Friday, February 22

The "Observer" sponsored the movies today. Did Dorothy Cannon ever rate with that swell close-up—we didn't even have a chance.

Monday, February 25

Have you heard about our latest couple?—Mary Mucker and R. L. Moore! Molly O'Dell is playing cupid and carries their little love notes back and forth. Tsk! Tsk!

Tuesday, February 26

Oh, dear! I've thunk, and thunk and I just can't think of a thing to write. Why doesn't somebody do something interesting once in a while.

Wednesday, February 27

Miss Foran forgot to ring her little bell this morning, and about half the people in 322 were late. Bettie Quinlan was in such a hurry to get her seat that she came rushing in with her lock hanging over her finger.

Thursday, February 28

The poor soldiers in the opera had to be here at 7.30 this morning. Wonder what time they had to get up? Must have been about the crack o' dawn.

MARCH

Friday, March 1

We thought only little kids get measles, but it seems that the whole school is catching 'em—Joan Gregory, Jean Light, Phil Miller, Elizabeth Geiger, Kenneth DeFrees, and even Miss Wyne!

Monday, March 4

Mr. Ziese's bright and shining face is back among us again, and he won the nomination, too!

Tuesday, March 5

Gee, I itch all over. Maybe I'm catchin' the measles, too. Quick, where a mirror?

Wednesday, March 6

Saw Paul Swann flashing hundred dollar bills around here today—Surprise! It's just stage money for the "oprey."

Thursday, March 7

Monday, March 11

"Blossom" Weilepp has finally found her Don Juan in the shape of a T. K. E. pledge. She told us that she can't eat or sleep—it must be grand!

Tuesday, March 12

Push off ye lads! for the cold wastes of Alaska with "Slim" Williams. Joe Hengst has decided to go up and put a few excess pounds on those manly shoulders.

Wednesday, March 13

We wonder what will be next—someone asked Miss Orr, in all sincerity, to buy a ticket to "Milly Modest"!

Thursday, March 14

When Bettie doesn't write this Jessie does, and when Jessie doesn't it isn't written—where's Barbara? P. S.—This clever thing was written by Miss Quinlan.

Friday, March 15

This weather seems to be bringing lots of illness (or maybe it's Spring Fever) —E. Chodat, Frances Johnson, and Suttiff sure have it—at the Mill

Monday, March 18

You'd be surprised to know how many of the seniors imagine themselves Clark Gables and Claudette Colberts, but then so it goes when the seniors have play try-outs—.

Tuesday, March 19

Got an invitation to a formal on May 4th. Gee, gosh, am I thrilled. Now I'll have to break the news gently at home, and if I handle the situation diplomatically, maybe I'll get a new dress.

Wednesday, March 20

You should have seen what we saw during rehearsal—four (what ought to be dignified) seniors playing school on the front steps of this honorable institution. And the chawming teacher was—Helen Louise—Wattsie to you.

Thursday, March 21

Have you ever noticed the Rogues Gallery on the walls outside of 322—I even found my Dad's picture and is it a honey!

Friday, March 22

Free, free—sumpin' for nothin'. All of us little seniors are invited out to Millikin some time in the near future to see "The Late Christopher Bean."

Monday, March 25

The "auch-tors" for the senior play have named Harvey Sellers, the dashing hero; Doris Sayre, the gentle maiden; Sandy Carroll, Helen Louise Watts, and Barbara McMurry just act and act some more.

Tuesday, March 26

All the opera cast ran around with a haunted look in their eyes and circles under them—Martha Quinn says she hasn't slept for weeks just for thinking about it.

Wednesday, March 27

Some of the gals are going to have a house party out at Southside. The "Dec" staff plans to work all week so you can see what you can see.

Thursday, March 28

The opera, "Mlle. Modiste" was simply "serumptious." Mary and Kenneth sang grandly and Beatrice Dickman had a beautiful French accent. God rest ye merry gentlemen!—go home and sleep. Make good use of your ten days vacation

APRIL

Monday, April 8

Horrors, the same old story about the first day after vacation with every one looking the worst from the wear. We wonder what Judith Ann Mertz was doing at the transfer house fishing out of a fish bowl?

Tuesday, April 9

Peg Smith will have lots to tell when she comes home from the hospital—what with being fed oxygen and all

Wednesday, April 10

Mrs. Meyers must have the dropsy or something because Mr. Sprunger gave her a basket to carry her bulletin up stairs in—sarcasm or gallantry?

The dust flys here
 The dust flys there,
 It gets in ole' Decatur's hair,
 And if the pupils
 Use their noodles,
 They'll gargle when eating apple "strudels."

Friday, April 12

How can the DeMolays have so many parties? We all saw little Walter Murnighan there with "Susie" Stivers.

Monday, April 15

Heard Harold Mikels asked "Greg" to go to a formal. Gee, did she turn into a big smile and blush. (We gather that she accepted.)

Tuesday, April 16

Spring is here! But we dodged that several of our well-dowd students have a code in the head. Ah be! Such is life P. S.—If you want to get any sense out of this, you'd better read it out loud.

Wednesday, April 17

The Observer surely got us some grand entertainment when they brought the White Hussars. We must admit our dear old newspaper brings as good authoritisms as the "Dec."

Thursday, April 18

Doctor Lindberg gave his annual talk to the seniors. He really relieved our minds a lot about the T. B. test when he said it wouldn't hurt. From what we heard from some of the seniors last year it was almost as painful as a major operation.

Friday, April 19

Guess what they asked us for—to decorate South Side for the opera cast dance. Cut grass from our lawns and any fruit blossoms. It sounds kinda funny, but they say the effect is quite "arty."

Monday, April 22

Hi de ho—some doin's. You should just have seen Elizabeth Geiger, Ellie Shell, "Ginger" Peery, "Gregg" and a few other energetic youngsters toddling out of bed at dawn yesterday morning in order to attend the sunrise service. They also honored several other religious spots with their presences during the day.—Such ambition deserves some reward—

Tuesday, April 23

Sure felt like a cow being branded when I got the T. B. test this morn. Little Willy Clannin kind of folded up on us!

Wednesday, April 24

Carolyn Holligoss and Maude Fichman made "Sweet girl graduates" when they modeled "ye old cappes and gownes" this morning.

Thursday, April 25

More branding for the seniors—this time "Doc" read the little red marks—some guy!!

Friday, April 26

The spring fever seems to have gotten quite a few of our "students"—? Saw Bob Long and young Dave Simpson over at the drug wishing for a car and some swimming suit's—the spring, the beautiful spring.

Monday, April 29

These people that get "easy money" make me sick—Harris Beck and Ruth Ross came thru with flying colors and won the Mary W. French award.

Tuesday, April 30

Was terrible sorry to see in the paper last night that Mrs. Hostetler is going to give up the ship as dean of girls—We'll miss you and we wish you lots of happiness.

Scandal! Scandal! The pride and joy of the house of Woodward went riding with "Helpy" and Clyde Tearnan last night in her nite-gown and bathrobe. Can you imagine that? Positively indecent, I calls it!

Thursday, May 2

Senior honors popped out yesterday in the meeting. Mr. Walraven was chosen salutatorian by a unanimous vote. Mr. Swarm is to orate for us.

Friday, May 3

Yesterday a girl was knocked down by lockers and today little Imogene Hopkins fell over in a dead faint. Maybe a few nails, carefully placed, would help to hold the place together for a few more years.

Monday, May 6

The senior play was quite a success and did "Wattsie" ever look elegant in that little pink number. Did we get scared—in the forest

Tuesday, May 7

Proud and haughty,
Good not naughty,
Her glance is apt to freeze;
She's very coy,
The pride and joy—
Lib Williams if "u" please.

Wednesday, May 8

News and more news—you know that dignified(?) sophomore, Helen Madiera—Well, children, she had a great surprise the other night when that big he-man Oder, ups and spanked her a few. 'Twas really quite touching (puny pun). It must be nice to exercise such manly strength over all the gals—n'est-ce pas?

Thursday, May 9

May we sorta acknowledge a little help from "Gaddy" or in other words Joan Gregory.

Friday, May 10

Saw all the De Molays up in Bloomington some time ago. That little Carl Swartz was practically weighted down by a big medal on a red ribbon which he was wearing 'round his neck

Monday, May 13

Such an elegant affair that them thar juniors gave us the other night. Weren't the little concession stands just too cute for words—in fact so cute we'll drop the whole matter.

Tuesday, May 14

Have you ever noticed Evelyn Overly's beautiful blonde locks? We just wonder how many hours it takes her to curl it all up. Try counting them some time

Wednesday, May 15

I would say, rite off hand, that the ice cream cone season is here. People go around hiding behind regular mountains of the stuff. There's a little place around the corner that seems to be permeated with old Southern generosity. At least, they give you all u want for a nickle.

Thursday, May 16

Believe it or not, but we have a human fish in our midst. She got so lonesome for the H₂O the other nite that she went wading in it, and as a result is now suffering from tonsilitis. The "scaly" one's name is Slocum.

Friday, May 17

Mr. Rees and the boys and girls came thru with flying colors again and presented a fine concert. Music was especially entertaining.

Tuesday, May 28

Tomorrow's the big day, what with the senior picnic, class day, 'n everything. Can't you just see that handsome Arthur Lutz with a luscious grey robe on.

Wednesday, May 29

Honors! honors! and more honors! These honor days are not for the poor dumb under-dogs like us but just imagine what a wonderful feeling it must be.

Thursday, May 30

Memorial Day is another day we are thankful for—no school!

Friday, May 31

We wonder just how things will turn out for our "sweet" graduates—it was a swell class day—in fact so swell we almost "blubbered" all over ourselves. So long—be seen' you at the picnic this afternoon

Monday, June 3

The pic-a-nic was really quite an affair. Even if a few sandwiches and deviled eggs were used for paper wads—oh, well, it's all in a day.

Tuesday, June 4

Billowy clouds lying in an Azure sky; little birds—
Oh don't let it bother you, school's almost over, summer comin' and all that, it's almost bound to go to one's head a little bit.

Wednesday, June 5

Here it is the first of June and we just noticed those black numbers which were painted on all the doors about a month ago. Course we were awful busy and all—They always start doing things just when we leave.

Thursday, June 6

Last year some of the childish little seniors tied the row in front of them together by taking a tassel out of their caps and winding it around the button on the robe of the senior in front—Such embarrassment—sure hope it doesn't happen this year.

Friday, June 7

The final day has come and our job is finished. Commencement was lovely and it was certainly something which will forever linger in our memories.

ODES TO THE SENIORS

Adams is tall and superior
(I am speaking of Sylvia). Too,
She gives one a complex inferior.
Has she ever tried working on you?

B is for Burcham the Silent,
The maiden with beautiful eyes,
If it weren't for her discrimination,
You would find me in Joy's paradise.

Crawford is the name of twins
As like as camel's humps.
How do we differentiate?
Tom wears bow-ties and Marge wears
pumps.

De Frees is a lad in our midst
Who is noted for fluttering hands.
When he talks and continues his talking,
All hope of escape one disbands.

Eichman's other name is Maude,
A girl we all revere.
And when we sit by Maude in class,
Our grades fill us with cheer.

Farrar is the name of an opera gal,
And her namesake is in our class—
Our own Geraldine doesn't yodel so well
But she's one nifty lass that will pass.

Geiger's art at drawing mugs
Will someday bring her money.
Once she drew my own pan and
Attempted to be funny.

Henry, Paul, is quite a lad—
I think he'll make his mark.
He gives a good impression when
His face is in the dark

Iams is a damsel fair
With quiet ways and flaming hair.
But don't let that give you a scare—
Her eyes are blue

Jones is quite a common name,
It doesn't sound like fire.
Alice Marie is not a lamb,
I know, I raised her ire.

Knotts is a landmark of ours,
We all know good ole Marge.
We like her guile, explosive smile,
Her atmosphere at large.

Lindberg is a name of note
Held here by quite a worthy chap.
We know him by his manly stride,
His deadly, murderous back-slap.

Miller is a little man,
A little man but mighty,
And slay the girls, I'll say he can
With ha cha-cha and hi-de.

Nelson, Forrest, takes the cake
In saying something silly.
While playing 'round some profs, he gets
An atmosphere quite chilly.

Oakes is such a little bit
Of sugar and of spice—
And when she looks at me and smiles,
I think she's awfully nice.

Powell is at times so wise
He somehow makes me fidget
But in the good ole senior play,
He's just a simple idjut.

Quinlan, Betty, cuts some figure,
Walking down the street.
All the dandies whisper sideways,
"Boy, ain't cookie sweet?"

Roger's child is quite a man—
Neil knows what he's about.
When victims make a wee mistake,
He promptly bawls them out.

Swarm is so ambitious that
He makes me feel so funny,
I s'pose when he grows up he'll have
Just piles and piles of money.

Toney (that's Byron to you)
Is quite on the hefty side.
And if he knew who wrote this ode,
He'd hurt more than my pride.

Uhler is a bashful boy
Who knows mechanics well, I'm told
He knows just what a piston is,
And what the clutches hold.

Vance has a jaw of steel,
He needs be slightly gayer.
To finish his biography,
He goes with Doris Sayre.

Watts is just too cute for words
I like to hear her giggle.
But with the males of her set
I fear that she is figgle.

Xcuse me, plizz, there is no X
So I'll just say, "Wisconsin!"
I don't know why I said it
But it rhymes with Frances Johnson.

York, of course I mean Bob,
'Fore school takes stand in the hall.
He can tell you just who goes with whom
And who's mad at whom and all.

Z's I have none
But Ozee will do.
With Raymond I'm done.
Caramba! I'm through.

—stands at the heart of the business life of this community.

Every industrial and commercial activity, every public or private financial transaction in the community creates impulses that pass in one form or another through a bank.

Deposits of money, cashing of checks, bills of exchange to finance trade, distribution of payrolls, payment of bills, remittances of funds, accumulation of savings, borrowing of money — through thousands of such occurrences the bank takes an active and essential part in the business life of the community.
